

Bulldogs Growl, "Ravage the Redmen!"

Get Your Drag; Homecoming Dance Tomorrow Night

Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors! Hurry and find a partner for the fifth annual Homecoming Dance on Saturday night. Charlie Marcoe's nine-piece orchestra will play for your dancing pleasure at the National Guard armory from 10:30 p.m. until 1 a.m. Dress is informal — admission by activity card.

This year's dance will be given in honor of football coach Lloyd Peterson's 20th year at UMD.

Chairman of the dance committee, Tom Sermon, announces that each campus organization will be given a section of the armory wall to post its personal welcome to returning alumni.

The UMD "Y" Club is in charge of the maroon and gold decorations to be put up on Saturday. Every campus club should send a representative to help work out appropriate welcomes, and anyone else interested in decorating, please appear at the armory any time on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Apostolakis, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Ehlers, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wenzel, Miss Harriet Harrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce have been engaged as chaperones for the dance.

X-ray Required Of All Students

A chest X-ray is required of all students as part of their physical examination. Dr. George MacSween, clinic physician, said this week.

"While the anti-TB programs in Minnesota and St. Louis county are excellent, the danger of TB spread is always present. Compulsory chest X-rays will help reduce that danger on the UMD campus," Dr. MacSween explained.

Students will have an opportunity Nov. 13 and 14 to obtain free chest X-rays when the St. Louis county Christmas Seal mobile X-ray unit visits the campus.

Failure of students to appear for an X-ray will be sufficient cause for dismissal.

Debate Squad Begins Season; Price, Wage Control Discussed

U. M. D.'s debate squad held its first meeting Wednesday, Oct. 17. Debate has been in existence at UMD during past years, and this year appears to be the best year. The national intercollegiate question for this year is, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a permanent program of price and wage control."

Ecology Class Visits Experimental Station

Dr. R. W. Darland's class in Plant Ecology visited the University of Minnesota Forest Experiment station at Cloquet on Oct. 15.

Dr. T. Shantz-Hansen, director of the station, explained the function of the station and told about the several projects now underway.

Students attending were Richard Barrett, Walter Olson, Allen Peterson, Bruno Seppl, Frank Serratore, Doris Sweeney and Leo Thirey.

VARSITY SHOW IS ON TONIGHT

The moment all UMD students have been waiting for will occur tonight at the Varsity Show when the Homecoming queen will receive her crown.

According to Varsity Show chairman Dick Wallin, a half-hour of the show will be produced by Herb Taylor. It will include an original 15-minute comedy playlet staged by a cast of six, vocal duets by Kay Onsgard and Don Sundquist, musical selections by the band and fill-in comedy by Taylor and Dick Heim.

This portion of the show is tentatively scheduled for broadcast over a local station.

The Frosh bonfire at Chester Bowl will follow the show.

IFSC Elects Officers; Ott Named President

The Inter-Fraternity Sorority Council, a body composed of members of the social fraternities and sororities on the campus, met for the second time this week and elected its officers for the first half of the year.

The new president, Jane Ott, is a member of Sigma Phi Kappa and Claire Leraan, who was elected secretary-treasurer, is a member of Sigma Psi Gamma.

In charge of social events will be Paul Johnson of Gamma Theta Phi and Barbara Bernard of Sigma Phi Kappa.

Mr. Willman is paying an honorarium of $5.00 to each donor. Will anyone who can help him in this emergency, please call the blood bank at St. Luke's hospital for an appointment.

Scheduled Tonight Queen Coronation

"Three cheers for our student body! This is the best-supported Homecoming UMD has had yet." So says Ron Weber, 1951 Homecoming chairman.

Yes, it's that time of year again—the one week when classes and studies receive even less attention than usual and all eyes are turned to campaigns, parades, Varsity Show, and, of course, the Big Game.

This year's Homecoming activities began with the opening of button and beanie sales on Monday morning. Ira "Skip" Burhans, booster button chairman, reports that sales have been better than expected. Freshman beanies, something new on the UMD campus, were so popular with both freshmen and upper-classmen that they were all sold by Monday afternoon.

Monday also saw the opening of Queen campaigns with nearly every campus organization actively backing one of the six comely coeds. Queen candidates are Donna Grace, Jane McFarland, Pat Anderson, Rose Hable, Claire Leraan, and Mary Young, who were presented by their various sponsoring organizations at a combination Queen Convo and Pep Rally at 11 a. m. Thursday in the UMD auditorium. Members of UMD's

Atomic Scientist Lectures Tuesday

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, noted atomic scientist, author and lecturer, will speak on Oct. 30 at 11 a. m. in the auditorium on the subject of atomic energy and civil defense. The title of his lecture is "Must We Hide?"

Associated with the development of the atom bomb from its beginning, Dr. Lapp was first with the Manhattan Project and the Argonne National Laboratory, and in 1946 participated in the Bikini bomb tests as scientific consultant on radiation.

Dr. Lapp is serving as director of the Nuclear Science service in Washington at the present and is devoting much of his time to civil defense.

A graduate of the University of Chicago, Dr. Lapp is a member of such organizations as Phi Beta Kappa, American Institute of Physics and American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Duluth Chamber of Commerce will judge the floats and bands and award prizes to the best three.

The Ambassadors of Duluth with a sixty-piece marching unit, will escort Duchess of Duluth, Mary Ann Myhre, a former UMD student.

A drum and bugle corps formed by the 179th Fighter Interceptor Squadron will perform along with a color guard.

Dick Gay and Gerald Cook, sophomores, are co-chairmen of the event.

Elementary Council Elects Officers

The Elementary Council held its first meeting on Oct. 18 and proceeded to elect officers as their first business of the new year.

Appointed to the Student Council was Bob Sternal.

The Elementary Council decided to support Donna Grace for Homecoming Queen.

EDITORIAL . . .

Wake Up! Take Notice!

The sports editor of the Duluth Herald and News-Tribune, in one of his columns, urged the citizens of Duluth to wake up and take notice that within their city is a football team which has gained the respect of fellow MIAC members. But before we can possibly assume that non-students will join in boosting the Bulldogs, we must first show them that we, as students at UMD, are behind the team which carries our banners into battle on the gridiron.

We attended the UMD-St. Thomas game at St. Paul a week ago and were more than pleased with the spirit generated by the ardent followers of the Bulldogs' athletic fortunes, namely, the Barkers club members. The number of students who were present at that game are a minority compared to the total student body; yet, the cheering which emanated from their united voices was, we are sure, deeply appreciated by the team and their coaches.

We have a brilliant football team which, before the season started, was not even mentioned as a contender for conference honors; yet, they have beaten two teams who were rated favorites, those teams being, of course, Hamline and St. Thomas.

The Bulldog gridders have already done their share. They have practiced long and hard to earn an undefeated conference record to date along with gaining the reputation of having one of the hardest hitting lines in the conference and one of the smoothest operating offensive units.

Win, lose or draw come tomorrow night, Coach Lloyd Peterson's charges are worthy of the support of the student body. There is only one way in which to show this support and that is by attending the Homecoming football game and cheering.

Let's let the citizens of Duluth know that we are behind our teams so that they can really wake up and take notice ! ! !

We Back The Bulldogs

By PAT HOLMBERG

Books, professors and classes are all very important parts of college life. In fact without them there would be no college. But there is also another side to college; the extra-curricular side.

Many clubs and organizations go to make up the special activities of college. One of the most important of all school clubs is the pep club. At UMD the pep club is known as the BARKERS CLUB.

The BARKERS CLUB is one of the best organized clubs on campus. Meetings are held every other Tuesday night. At these meetings ideas are offered for promoting school spirit among the student body. New yells are introduced by the cheerleaders, and projects are worked on the purpose of inspiring school spirit in all students.

School spirit is a premium to any football or basketball team. A team can never be given too much support by the student body. It is the objective of BARKERS to see to it that our teams are backed in every way possible.

Officers are elected every spring for the following year. At the annual election last spring quarter Bob Murray was elected president. To assist him are Milo Jensen, vice president; Virginia Christie, secretary; Pat Holmberg, treasurer; and Dick Wallin, Student Council representative.

This fall the Barkers attended an out-of-town football game at St. Thomas. It was a return visit for the BARKERS to St. Thomas, as they attended a basketball game there last winter quarter. Plans are also being made to attend another out-of-town basketball game this winter. The exact game has not as yet been decided upon.

Along with attending the athletic events of the college, the BARKERS back the cheerleaders and majorettes. They make pom-poms to further school spirit, they comprise the main cheering section at football and basketball games, they sponsor the athletic award assembly in the spring, and they hold a pep convocation at the Homecoming assembly along with other pep convocations during the year.

This year the BARKERS supported Rose Hable for Homecoming queen.

Four cheerleaders comprise the regular cheerleading squad. They are: Pat Anderson, Pat Holmberg, Peggy Woods, and Ruth Parker. Three alternates were also chosen. They are: Bonnie Allee, Mary Ann Ehlers, and Betty Lachowsky. Linda Marie Wallin, age 4, will act as mascot for the cheerleaders tomorrow night at the Homecoming game.

Mr. Pierce, head of the speech and hearing clinic, is the adviser for the BARKERS CLUB.

The idea of "Freshman Beanie" originated with the BARKERS CLUB. The practice of having all freshmen wear beanies is a standard practice at most other colleges. UMD intends to make it an annual affair also.

Up until this time UMD has had only two majorettes. Last Monday BARKERS held a bake sale to raise money for a new majorette uniform. Tomorrow night at the Homecoming game three majorettes will appear.

Initial Play Performance Promises Hilarious Episodes

By PEGGY HELLA

With due regard for the conventions of the Victorian era, Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" is, nevertheless, a very funny revelation and satire of its hypocrisies. Wilde, in this one play, delicately and playfully bombasts the two-faced, tight-placed puritanical superficiality of the men and women of his day.

The gist of the story in this gay comedy is that it is very important to be earnest; that is, for Mr. Jack Worthing and Mr. Albernion Moncrieff. Their loving femmes, Miss Gwendoline Brachaud and Miss Cecily Carden, also try very hard to be earnest, and everybody has a grand time in the end.

This forthcoming production of the University Theatre will have in these four lead roles, Don Sundquist as Jack, Herbert Taylor as Algernon, Alyce Wellberg as Gwendoline, and Rosie Jorgenson as Cecily.

This is Don's first play at UMD, but you'll probably remember him as the hero in last year's operetta, "Down in the Valley." Herb has acted in many plays at UMD, his latest play having been "MacBeth."

Alyce just came to UMD this fall from Denfeld. She was very active in plays and speech work there and last spring she won the state award for humorous declamation. This summer she attended the Theatre Workshop at the main campus for six weeks.

Rosie's theatre experience at UMD so far has been as Cris-tine in "I Remember Mama."

THIS IS FOOTBALL?

Frills In The Field

By RUTH SRAMEK

Weather or not! It was a typical day for a football game. The wind blew hard and the sun shown between down pours. The temperature was above freezing. Who could ask for more?

I settled myself just in time, for UMD was about to come on the field. Amid the applause I heard a squeal, which came from directly behind me. As I turned, I was literally torpedoed by a pair of high heels, nylons, a pink fuzzy coat, and a feathery hat, inside of which was a girl.

"Aren't they sweet?" was the first remark she uttered.

Her escort was trying his best not to look embarrassed, but was hardly succeeding.

The kick-off by UMD was perfect, but from behind . . .

"Why did he kick that ball? Now the other men have to run and get it for him."

Her faithful interpreter did his best, wondering why he had ever taken her.

"Oh, that poor boy, everybody jumped on him. Why doesn't somebody help him? My goodness, they certainly are poor sports."

In the scrimmage UMD had recovered the ball. Everyone was overflowing with cheers. Did I say everyone

"I think they are terribly selfish, always fighting over who should have the ball, they should take turns. Did that man say it was the first down? Anybody can see he has fallen down at least three times. Look, the umpire is waving at me. Aren't you jealous?" All this was followed by a small twitter.

As the excitement rose there came, "Give'um the old one-two. Come on, how about a home-run?"

I was rather surprised by the five-minute pause that followed before I heard her ask: "What are those clothesline posts for? Oh, I bet I can guess. That must be what those sweet boys use to hang their grimy little suits on. See, I'm not so dumb."

As a shot concluded the third quarter, "There is the bell. That third inning certainly did go fast."

I could faintly hear her escort mumble something under his breath.

As the game resumed, there was a horrible scream. "Ohhhh, someone sat on the ball. How can those poor boys dribble now. Why don't they get a new one? They sure don't know much about football . . ."

Calling All Coeds

By LOIS CONRAD

The door-to-door saying, "Working Your Way Through College," is not a joke these days. And, it is not only the boys who are holding down the jobs. A survey of UMD's time-ly coeds points out the fact that approximately one-half of our feminine population find it necessary to supplement their weekly allowance in some way.

Some of our girls are working full time; even more of them are working as part-time helpers such as salesgirls, dental assistants, receptionists, typists, cafeteria helpers, student assistants, and baby sitters.

The time element is, of course, one of the problems confronting any coed. She has, besides working outside of school, home work piled high and she naturally wants some time for recreation—school organizations, parties, dates, and hobbies—all of which are necessary psychologically and also an important part of the college life.

Girls who are working, besides attending UMD, find that they must have their programs as efficiently planned as prima donnas plan their twenty-four hour schedules. The planning of time for study is one of the most difficult tasks for them. No longer is the student fed with assignments by the drop-per method, but rather, she is usually given assignments for weeks in advance, if not on a term basis. Thus, she will be able to plan a time schedule weekly to avoid those all-night study sessions with only the annoying ticking of a clock as a companion.

After the inside of the week with its hard study and monotonous grind comes its outside—the week-end. Week-ends mean horseback riding, ski trips, jaunts to Minneapolis, dances, concerts, and maybe even some hours of doing nothing.

So, don't let the freedom of limitless choice be your downfall, but lead your feet into a pleasant schedule of living—a schedule in which study does not crowd out sleep nor gaieties blot out work, and you will be "Working Your Way Through College" in more than one way.

EN KOPP TILL

With ANDY LARSON

Hats off to the Barkers' club. If there is any club worth joining, this is it. . . . Just travel with them to an out-of-town game once . . . and you will agree.

That is just what we did last Friday, when they chartered a bus to help the Bulldogs ruin the St. Thomas Homecoming. With this group we found lots of activity and excitement, and we sincerely believe that we were with "the cream of UMD school spirit."

From the moment we boarded the Greyhound at Washburn on Friday afternoon until we arrived back in Duluth early Saturday morning, we enjoyed ourselves at everything except that which Dr. Pierce wouldn't do.

Up front, near the "Chaperons," on the way to St. Thomas, such intellectual games as twenty questions and chess were the order of the day. And then there was charades for those less gifted. Occasionally things quieted down to a dull roar and you could pick up a good story from the center section of the coach. I would like to print a few of them in this column, but then there is the Board of Student Publications.

Board of Student Publications—any group of people who can see three meanings in a college joke that has only two meanings.

Toward the back of our "Chartered Chariot," the occupation was poker, craps, and so on down the scale to doing what comes naturally (sleeping).

In the intellectual group (our editor and I were placed here by mistake), we discovered such things as a German version of Charlemagne . . . half vegetables and half animals that are sometimes freshmen . . . and why we had only a four-page paper last week (Wallin made cigars out of the middle section).

Arriving in the Cities, we were led into a minor confusion for awhile . . . trying to find a fellow who was to meet Dee Campbell. We traced him to Snelling Avenue and cornered him in a 144-square-block area . . . but he managed to get away. . . .

Later, we found ourselves in an inspired cheering section which exhibited more zip and pep than I have ever witnessed at home games. And it was no small wonder, what with the enthusiasm generated by the fast-moving and powerful display of UMD's football might.

Half-time brought a feeble display of Homecoming ceremony that can well make us feel proud of what we hope to see tomorrow.

Jerry Cook's grandstand coaching did wonders, until the Tommies tuned their hearing aids in on his frequency, near the end of the game. . . . Then they cut the clock to half-throttle and shifted into low gear; the seconds turned to hours, then days, then weeks. And when the last few moments crawled on and out, the enemy powered their way to transform their big, beautiful zero into a fourteen, thereby ruining our headline for this issue's sports page.

The trek home was uneventful, except: "Scotty" Huseby muttered in his sleep; Kramnic "lost some sticky-paper" in a nightmare; and Leestamper exhibited cannibalistic tendencies.

This trip was loads of fun. . . . Be secin' you on the journey to Gustavus.

WHO'S TO REIGN OVER HOMECOMING?

Jane McFarland

Mu Sigma Psi, medical sorority, and Mu Delta Pi, medical fraternity, are sponsoring the same queen candidate, Jane McFarland. Wesley Foundation and the Democratic-Republican Union are supporting her, too.

Miss McFarland, petit blond sophomore from Carlton, is majoring in Zoology. She was one of the nine students to receive the Alworth Science Scholarship this year. She is a resident of Torrance Hall.

She has been active in the following organizations: Mu Sigma Psi, Barkers, Statesman, Theatre Guild and Orchesis.

Queens All, It's Anybody's Race

Campaigning for Homecoming queen candidates reached a peak at 11 a. m. yesterday when six lovely contestants were presented to the student body at a special convocation.

Campaign managers had dreamed up flourishing finales to a week of stunts which included such things as sedan chair conveyances to classes.

Signs all over the campus have proclaimed the merits of these six girls. One unique feature are those which urge one to buy a beanie on the way to Torrance hall and vote for a queen on the way back, ala Burma Shave.

Maroon and gold beanies proved so popular that staid old juniors and seniors as well as freshmen can be seen wearing them.

YOU HAVE UNTIL NOON TODAY TO CAST YOUR VOTE

Voting for the Homecoming queen opened after the convocation yesterday and will continue until noon today. The voting is taking place in the center of the first floor hall in Main.

Queen campaign co-chairmen Ron Kramnic and Dick Beckman urge everyone to cast their vote before the deadline. Voting is by activity card only.

The voting student can make his choice between four blondes, a brunette and a brunette. They are Jane McFarland, Donna Grace, Claire Leraan, Patricia Anderson, Mary Young and Rose Hable.

NOW DASH TO THE POLLS AND VOTE!

Mary Young

Mary Young, sophomore candidate for Homecoming queen, is being sponsored by three organizations. Backing her are Phi Delta Pi, the Women's Athletic association and Sigma Phi Kappa sorority.

Miss Young, a resident of Duluth, is majoring in physical education and minoring in health. She has been active in WAA, Sigma Phi Kappa and the University Association for Physical Education Majors and Minors and the Barkers.

Naturally enough, Miss Young's outside interests lean to sports. She plays no favorites; just likes them all.

Donna Grace

Donna Grace is one of two Torrance hall residents who are candidates for Homecoming queen of '51. Miss Grace is being sponsored by Delta Beta Gamma, Kindergarten-Primary club and Orchesis.

A junior from Barnum, she is a Kindergarten-Primary major and a Physical Education minor. She is a member of Delta Beta Gamma, Kindergarten-Primary club, Orchesis, Barkers club, University Association of Physical Education Majors and Minors and WAA. She is recording secretary of the Student Council and also a majorette.

Claire Leraan

Two of the largest clubs on campus, the Rangers and the Newman club, have announced their support of Claire Leraan for Homecoming queen. Six other organizations are campaigning for her also. They are Gamma Theta Phi, University Guild, Non-Resident club, Gamma Theta Upsilon, Ski club and UMD-YWCA.

Miss Leraan, a sophomore, is a resident of Duluth. She is majoring in psychology and minoring in social studies. She is a member of Sigma Psi Gamma, Alpha Psi Lambda, Barkers club, Democratic-Republican Union, the Ski club and University Guild.

Rose Hable

The Barkers' club candidate for queen is Rose Hable, sophomore from Duluth. Also sponsoring her are the M club, the Home Economics club, the Business club, UMD-Y and the University Association of Physical Education Majors and Minors.

Outside of school, her main interests center around sports. She says that she enjoys swimming and is reported to be an enthusiastic participant in skiing activities.

She is still a deferred major, however.

Miss Hable is a member of the Barkers club and WAA. She belongs to the Sigma Psi Gamma sorority.

Patricia Anderson

Patricia Anderson, music major from Duluth, has the backing of the music department organizations, the Buckhorns and Sigma Alpha Iota. Miss Anderson, a senior, is also the candidate for Beta Phi Kappa, Kappa Pi and Sigma Psi Gamma.

A UMD cheerleader, Miss Anderson is also active in the pep organization, the Barkers. Her other organizations include Sigma Psi Gamma, Buckhorns, Sigma Alpha Iota, Chorus and Glee club.

fighting Bulldogs were also introduced and cheerleaders were on hand to lead a capacity crowd in cheers and pep songs.

Last night students danced to the music of Arthur Fahland at the annual Homecoming Week Square Dance in the gymnasium.

Voting for Homecoming Queen began at noon yesterday and will continue until noon today. Voting is by activity card and students are urged to "get out and vote" for their favorite candidate.

Tonight at least part of the suspense will be relieved when UMD's 1951 Homecoming Queen will be crowned at the annual Varsity Show. The show, at 7 in the auditorium, will also feature UMD talent in a variety of comedy and musical acts.

The sweat that you see on the brows of UMD freshmen wasn't acquired studying. Freshmen, under the chairmanship of their new class president, Bob Juneo, have spent the past week gathering wood for the mammoth bonfire to be held in Chester Bowl immediately following the Varsity Show. Cheerleaders and Pep band will be on hand to lend more pep and sparkle to the gathering.

Saturday afternoon, Superior Street will be crowned with enthusiastic and curious spectators by 1 p. m., starting time for the big Homecoming parade, when twenty UMD organizations will display their carpentering and decorative talents.

New Manager Installs Improved Bookstore Policy

Oliver M. Anderson, newly appointed Bookstore manager, in an interview with a STATESMAN reporter, stated that he intends to emphasize service to the University in his management of this facility. He will welcome any suggestions concerning additional merchandise which should be stocked to meet the needs of students and faculty.

Mr. Anderson is not a stranger to UMD, since he has been in Duluth since 1947 as personnel manager for the Coolerator Co. Many faculty and student body members will find that they know him already, because he took extension courses here in psychology and personnel.

The bookstore was open this year during registration week so that students could purchase supplies in advance. Mr. Anderson says this procedure will continue to be followed. Hours will be from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. for that week. The store will also remain open through the noon hour during book week this year, to help relieve the congestion which has occurred in the past.

In answer to a query about such things as books running out before all the students of a given class have received theirs, Mr. Anderson replied, "My experience so far with the faculty and students has been one of very fine co-operation. I have been able to learn something of the problems involved in distribution of books and the necessity of having books available to the students as soon as classes start."

"I believe in the future we'll be able to spend more time with the faculty to determine very closely the number of books and supplies required, and in this way better serve the needs of the school as a whole."

for the UMD-St. Mary's Homecoming game in the Public Schools stadium. "Win for Pete" will be the game slogan. Coach Peterson has been at UMD for twenty years and Bob Murray, football captain, reports, "The team is going out with fighting heart to put UMD on top of the MIAC on his anniversary."

Wesley Meeting Hears Lecture by St. George

Miss Margaret St. George of the UMD art faculty was the guest speaker at the Thursday evening meeting, Oct. 25, of the Wesley Foundation at Endion Methodist church. Miss St. George gave an illustrated lecture on "Art and Religion." The club meeting began at 6 o'clock with a supper served by James Wegner, Margie Mills, Virginia Martin and Barbara Abernethy.

The social committee, headed by Marilyn Anderson, announces a hayride and Halloween party for Friday, Nov. 2. The party will be held at the home of Marion Welch.

Ukulele Style...

The old fireplace in the new lounge at Torrance hall held its first fire of the season last Thursday evening when Torrance hall girls gathered around it for a Fireside party. Cokes and hotdogs were the main event of the evening. No program was planned and no one worried about entertainment. The girls just relaxed and enjoyed some gossip and some impromptu singing accompanied by the piano and four or five ukuleles.

Torrance hall girls initiated their new lounge the first week of school with a very informal coke and cookie party. It turned out to be so much fun that a committee was established to plan regular parties for Torrance hall girls.

Besides the Fireside parties which will be a regular event at Torrance, some other big events have been planned which promise to make the name of Torrance standout on campus.

Parking Lot Improved At Science Building

A new drainage system and new surfacing are in the process of construction at the Science building parking lot. The surfacing will cover approximately 5,194 square yards and will consist of grading a new gravel bed, rolled to a compact surface.

"CALLING CQ" . . .

"Hams" Operate Short Wave Transmitter

Can you climb a tree? If so, you will be in demand at the first meeting of the UMD Amateur Radio club. It seems that the wind has blown down the antenna to the club's short-wave transmitter during the summer.

Even if you are not a relative of Tarzan, but have an interest in "ham radio," you are welcome at the get-together at the station in the basement of Olcott hall this afternoon at 3 p. m.

Amateur radio is interesting, educational, and just plain fun. Furthermore, you really need no previous experience, because there are several "old hands" around to teach you the tricks.

By belonging to this club, many "would-be short-wave fans" are given a break in operating experience; and, in training for FCC licensing, who could not afford the construction of their own equipment.

Earl Andrews, president of the club, reminds us that "many men and women licensed in amateur radio will be needed in event of a national emergency." "Furthermore," he continued, "this experience will be handy to those individuals who expect to find themselves engaged in military services."

Fish Menu Studied By Science Majors

Two science students, Lloyd Anderson and Don Renlund, under the supervision of Dr. John Gerberich, instructor of zoology, are conducting an experiment to discover what kind of food is available to trout in North Shore streams during late summer and fall.

The two students have been manning stations on the Split Rock and Goosberry rivers since August with three stations on the Split Rock and one on the Goosberry providing specimens for the study.

The specimens are taken every two weeks by agitating the bottom surface and picking up all the samples that are shaken loose.

According to Dr. Gerberich, the study is to determine how the natural fish-food supply varies.

St. Mary's To Feel Bulldogs Might Tomorrow

LeTourneau, Anderson May Miss Crucial Homecoming Feature

By BUDDY LAMPPA

"Ravage the Redmen" will be the cry of the UMD Bulldog as he returns from two rugged games on the road and prepares to tackle the Redmen from St. Mary's in the annual Homecoming affair.

While on the road, the Branchmen knocked two teams off the undefeated list, trouncing Hamline, 21-6, and downing St. Thomas, 20-14, a week later.

These two victories brought the Bulldogs' conference record to four straight and left them in a tie for first place honors with Gustavus Adolphus, which also has a 4-0 record.

If the Bulldogs can come through with a victory tomorrow night they will go into the Gustavus game with a perfect slate. A win over St. Mary's could give the Bulldogs added impetus as they would be in good condition to gun for the MIAC title.

However, the powerful UMD line that has astounded the conference with their "hit 'em hard and fast" type of play may be without the services of tackle Jim Anderson who was injured in the St. Thomas game. This could cause a serious weak spot in the Bulldogs' forward wall.

UMD's 205-pound center and linebacker, Phil LeTourneau, may be unable to play against the oft-beaten St. Mary squad. LeTourneau, who is making a strong bid for all-conference honors, suffered a chest injury in the St. Thomas tilt.

Led by Joe Magee, St. Mary's main offensive threat, the plucky Redmen may give UMD trouble since their aerial game is second only to that of the Gusties.

THE BULLDOGS' JOHNSON DUO, Ken and Glen (no relation though), execute in scrimmage what they hope to do against the Redmen tomorrow night as Guard Glen runs interference for Fullback Ken. Sport Talk

By JOHN KREBS

Well, they did it.

Coach Lloyd Peterson's Bulldogs climbed into serious contention for the MIAC championship by virtue of their important 20-14 win over perennially strong St. Thomas — previously undefeated in league play.

The hard-charging Branchmen face the Redmen of St. Mary's tomorrow night; then, with the conference title at stake, the Bulldogs travel to St. Peter Nov. 3 to meet the Gustavus Adolphus collegians.

Should UMD "Ravage the Redmen," the Nov. 3 encounter will, in all probability, put the loop's two unbeaten teams face to face — the winner of that carnage capturing the title. If the Marymen do vanquish Pete's players, a Bulldog victory against the Gusties will assure them of a first-place tie.

Well, they've done it so far, winning four straight MIAC games; we think they can continue doing it.

But only with your support.

ANYTHING GOES

Chuck Jeronimus, senior guard and one of the best linemen in the conference, is out for the remainder of the season. Jeronimus suffered a severe knee injury Sept. 22 and has been unable to play since . . . Don't forget to attend the homecoming game tomorrow night . . . UMD's own "Big Mo," tackle Dick MacDonell, has been hampered by a leg injury and can play but a few minutes at a time. . . . The game begins at 8:00 p.m. . . . Ha! St. Mary's has won only one game while losing four . . . The Redmen lost to us last year, 20-6; let's hope history repeats itself for a change. . . . You will be admitted to tomorrow night's 8 o'clock homecoming game upon presentation of your student activities card — that's the little piece of paper you paid $13.35 for. Use it . . . Chuck McElevey, freshman linebacker from Grand Marais, started this quarter at the Minneapolis branch, but transferred. Looks as though he likes to play for a winner . . . The game tomorrow night, which starts at 8:00 p.m., will be staged in Public Schools stadium, 55th Ave. West and 4th Street . . . Ken Johnson and Jim Anderson, fullback and tackle respectively on the gridiron, double during the winter on the basketball court for the Bulldogs. . . . UMD won their homecoming tilt last season, walloping Concordia 39-19 . . . Let's hope they can win this year's feature, which will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Public Schools stadium. . . . Whoops! Gustavus beat Augsburg 49-14 last Saturday, we beat the Auggies 6-0 . . . Okay, so the Gusties have Tom Zweiner, nation's number one small college ground-gainer — we have Sam Tucker! ! !

Just one more thing before we end. See you tomorrow night at the St. Mary's-UMD game, which begins at — well, anyway, we'll see you there.

Branchmen Continue Victory March; Win Over Tommies

By DALE HOLTER

UMD's amazing Bulldogs displayed some of the rock-'em, sock-'em football that has caused the MIAC to sit up and take notice as they stunned the previously undefeated St. Thomas eleven, 20-14, before a capacity homecoming crowd at St. Paul.

The victory was the Bulldog's fourth in conference play, leaving them with an unmarred slate with two encounters still on tap.

A recovery of Schreck's fumble on the Duluth 26-yard line midway in the second period by Glenn Johnson paved the way for the Branchmen's first touchdown. A series of pass plays brought the ball down to the Tommies' 11. Bernie Neary carried it over right tackle for the score and Jerry Novack added the extra point on a placement.

Neary scored again a few minutes later on a 23-yard pass from Howie Tucker after Chuck McElevey recovered Horyza's fumble. Tucker's extra-point attempt missed the uprights and the first half ended in a 13-0 lead for the Bulldogs.

The third and final Bulldog touchdown came in the third quarter on a 65-yard drive with Tucker heaving a 35-yard aerial to Novack for the tally. Novack's placement was good and the Branchmen waltzed into a 21-0 lead.

St. Thomas came back strong in the final chapter, however, with Len Horyza of Superior Cathedral leading the attack via the airlines.

Horyza scored the Tommies first touchdown on a quarterback sneak after a march of 35 yards. Oden converted the first of his two extra points.

A few minutes later, St. Thomas again took to the airways and brought the ball to the Bulldog's 8-yard line. Thommes went over right tackle for the touchdown from there.

The last minute saw four St. Thomas passes fall incomplete and the Bulldogs took over until the final gun went off.

Bob Kuusisto Paces "Country" Runners In Triangular Meet

UMD's cross-country team, in its first meet of the year, placed behind St. Thomas and Macalaster in a triangular meet prior to the UMD-St. Thomas football game last week.

Burt Budd of St. Thomas was individual winner as he finished about 200 yards ahead of the runner-up.

Bob Kuusisto was first for UMD, placing sixth, while Les Nummela finished tenth. Others who ran were Charles Berg, Gene Eckman and Dick Ojakangas.

The team scores were: St. Thomas 20, Macalaster 42 and UMD 58.

The team will run next at Lake Nokomis in Minneapolis on Friday, Nov. 2 in the MIAC meet.

Third Annual Concert Series Membership Drive Launched

UMD's third annual membership drive for University Concert Series will be officially launched at 6:15 p. m. Monday in the Arrowhead hotel with a kick-off dinner for all campaign personnel.

Approximately 100 workers are expected to participate in the week-long solicitation, which will end Saturday noon, Nov. 3. Every student, faculty member, and university employee will be contacted.

Workers are being recruited from all campus organizations through the co-operation of the Student Council and its president, Bob Leestamper.

Five concert attractions featuring young musicians of outstanding artistic ability will keynote the 1951-52 University Concert Series.

Mary Henderson, former leading Metropolitan Opera soprano now engaged in stage and television, will commence the season's program when she appears in recital Nov. 13 in Main auditorium. Last year Miss Henderson scored a major success when she sang with the New York Philharmonic.

Sidney and Teresa Harth, duo-violinists who have combined marriage with an artistic career, have been booked for a campus appearance December 6. Each a virtuoso with distinctive but finely blended tone qualities, they play brilliantly, with authority and notable warmth of feeling.

Another couple who have combined marriage and a career are Paul and Adriana Knowles, tenor and contralto. Last year Mr. Knowles was runner-up in the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air. Mrs. Knowles is featured on the NBC "Show of Shows." They will perform here January 28.

The Quantz Trio, an instrumental group composed of flute, piano and cello, have been engaged for a concert February 28. Including Thomas and Michele Wilt, flutist and pianist, and David Wells, cellist, the musicians will combine their experienced solo talents into a highly enjoyable and unusual ensemble. The Trio takes its name from Johann Joachim Quantz, the celebrated flutist and musician who was Kappelmeister to Frederick the Great.

The distinguished young pianist, Irene Rosenberg, will bring the series to a close when she presents a recital March 13. Miss Rosenberg has performed brilliant concerts in Europe and Town Hall. She has the ability to captivate an audience and score with the critics. A child prodigy now matured in technique and concept, she is a "model of stylistically fine interpretation."

Memberships for this season will be available any time beginning Tuesday and may be secured from any campaign worker, or directly from Campaign Headquarters in the Humanities office, 105 Main. Cost is $3, including tax, admitting the holders to all concerts in the current series.

No single admission tickets will be sold. Memberships for the series will not be available after Saturday noon, Nov. 3.

UMD Political Union Starts National Bipartisan Trends

The Minnesota Federation of College Republican Clubs held its monthly executive committee meeting at the home of its chairman, Leonard Nadasdy Minneapolis, last Sunday.

Among the topics of discussion at the meeting was the publishing of an outline or "blueprint" by which other college clubs could pattern discussion groups similar to those held at UMD by the Democratic-Republican Union.

This school's Political Union was surprised and pleased to know that they have set the example for other bipartisan groups around the country. California has a group called the Liberal Conservatives, and rumors are that plans are under way for a similar group at Washington State. The Minneapolis campus of the U. of M. has already begun joint meetings on an unofficial basis. Other unusual groups within the National Republican College Federation include the GOP 4-H clubs of Ohio; the four H's standing for "Help Harry Hurry Home."
